Recitative (Second Fairy): And sweet Osnaphil his brother

SECOND FAIRY
And sweet Osnaphil his brother,
Arthur hails him such another;
Edward too enjoins the rites,
To rank him with the lifted knights:
Worthy each alike to spring
From the Fairy Queen and King.
Now then, blythe elves, in tunes express
The sovereign and his empress,
While all confess the proper heir
Assigned to Arthur's crowns and chair.

22. Duetto (Principal Fairies): Seek you majesty to strike?
Second Fairy: seek you majesty to strike?

First Fairy: Bid the world pro-

Bassi: duce the like. Seek you glory, to a-

Second Fairy:

First Fairy: duce the like. Seek you glory, to a-

Bassi:

Cl. 1

Cl. 2

Vn 1

Vn 2

22

27 mazes? Here let nations stand and gaze.
Here let nations stand, and
Here let nations stand, and Seek you wisdom, to in -
To in - spire?  Touch, then, touch, then, at no other fire.

spire?  Touch, then, touch, then, at no other fire.

Seek you piety, seek you, piety, seek you, piety, seek.
seek you pi - e - ty, to lead? In their foot - steps

on - ly tread, seeks you pi - e - ty to lead, seek you
Second Fairy

don't try to lead?
In their footsteps

can't try to lead?
In their footsteps

Bassi

Can't try to lead?
Every grace of Queen and
King, And of all, of all, in them, we sing. Ev'ry grace of Queen and King, And of all, of all, in them, we sing.
all, in them we sing, in
all, in them we sing,

them we sing, in them we sing,

them we sing, in them we sing,
Recitative (First Fairy): Now, fays and elves, your talks about

FIRST FAIRY  Now, fays and elves, your talks about;
The castle search within and out;

SECOND FAIRY  Strew good luck on every room,
Fixed till the perpetual doom;

FIRST FAIRY  The several chairs of order scour,
With juice of every precious flower;

SECOND FAIRY  Each fair instalment-coat, and crest,
With loyal blazon still be blest.
22. Duetto (Principal Fairies): Seek you majesty to strike?

And sweet Osnaphil his brother,
Arthur heirs him such another:
Edward too claims the rites,
To rank him with the lifted knights;
Worthy each alike to spring
From the Fairy Queen and King.
Now then, blythe elves, in tunes express
The sovereign and his empress,
While all confess the proper heir.

Assigned to Arthur's crowns and chair.
And sweet Osnaphil his brother,
Arthur hails him such another;
Edward too joins the trees,
To rank him with the lifted knights:
Worthy each alike to spring
From the Fairy Queen and King.
Now then, blythe elves, in tunes express
The sovereign and his empress,
While all confess the proper heir
Assigned to Arthur's crown and chair.

Recitative (Second Fairy): And sweet Osnaphil his brother
Recitative (First Fairy): Now, fays and elves, your talks about;
The castle search within and out;
Strew good luck on every room,
Fixed till the perpetual doom;
The several chairs of order scour,
With juice of every precious flower;
Each fair instalment-coat, and crest,
With loyal blazon still be blest.
FIRST FAIRY

SECOND FAIRY

FIRST FAIRY

SECOND FAIRY
And sweet Osnaphil his brother,
Arthur hails him such another;
Edward too enjoins the rites,
To rank him with the lifted knights:
Worthy each alike to spring
From the Fairy Queen and King.
Now then, blythe elves, in tunes express
The sovereign and his empress,
While all confess the proper heir
Assigned to Arthur's crowns and chair.

Recitative (Second Fairy): And sweet Osnaphil his brother
Recitative (First Fairy): Now, fays and elves, your talks about; The castle search within and out; Strew good luck on every room, Fixed till the perpetual doom; The several chairs of order scour, With juice of every precious flower; Each fair instalment-coat, and crest, With loyal blazon still be blest.
And sweet Osnaphil his brother,
Arthur hails him such another.
To rank him with the lifted knights:
Worthy each alike to spring
From the Fairy Queen and King.
Now then, blythe elves, in tunes express
The sovereign and his empress,
While all confess the proper heir
Assigned to Arthur's crowns and chair.
Violin 1

89

97
And sweet Osnaphil his brother,
Arthur hails him such another.
Edward too among the files.
To rank him with the lifted knights:
Worthy each alike to spring
From the Fairy Queen and King.
Now then, blythe elves, in tunes express
The sovereign and his empress,
While all confess the proper heir.

Assigned to Arthur's crowns and chair.
Violin 2

89

97
And sweet Osnaphil his brother,
Arthur hails him such another,
To rank him with the lifted knights:
Worthy each alike to spring
From the Fairy Queen and King.
Now then, blythe elves, in tunes express
The sovereign and his empress,
While all confess the proper heir
Assigned to Arthur's crowns and chair.
Violin 1

89

97
And sweet Osnaphil his brother,
Arthur hails him such another,
Edward too among the files.
To rank him with the lifted knights:
Worthy each alike to spring
From the Fairy Queen and King.
Now then, blythe elves, in tunes express
The sovereign and his empress,
While all confess the proper heir
Assigned to Arthur's crowns and chair.
89
Violin 2

97
And sweet Osnaphil his brother,
Arthur hails him such another.
Edward too among the rites.
Now then, blythe elves, in tunes express
The sovereign and his empress,
While all confess the proper heir
Assigned to Arthur's crowns and chair.
seek you pi - e - ty, to lead?  In their foot - steps

only tread, seeks you pi - e - ty to lead, seek you pi - e - ty to lead?  In their foot - steps only tread.  Ev 'ry grace of Queen and

King,  And of all, of all, in them, we sing.  Ev 'ry grace of Queen and King, of Queen, and King, And of all, in them we sing, in

them we sing, in them we sing.__
First Fairy

22. Duetto (Principal Fairies): Seek you majesty to strike?

And sweet Osnaphil his brother,
Arthur hails him such another.
To rank him with the lifted knights:
Worthy each alike to spring
From the Fairy Queen and King.
Now then, blythe elves, in tunes express
The sovereign and his empress,
While all confess the proper heir
Assigned to Arthur's thrones and chair.

Seek you majesty, seek you majesty, maj-
-
-

seek you majesty to strike?
Bid the world produce the like.

Seek you glory, to amaze? Here let na- tions stand and gaze.____

Here let na- tions stand____ and gaze.____
To inspire? Touch, then, at no other fire.

Seek you pi-e-ty, seek you pi-e-ty, seek____
--- you pi-e-ty, to lead? In their foot-steps on-ly tread, seeks you pi-e-ty to lead, seek you pi-e-ty to lead? In their foot-steps on-ly tread. Ev-ry grace of Queen and King, And of all, of all, in them, we sing.

Ev-ry grace of Queen and King, And of all, in them we sing, in them we sing, in them we sing.
22. Duetto (Principal Fairies): Seek you majesty to strike?

And sweet Osnaphil his brother,
Arthur hails him such another;
Edward too enjoins the rites,
To rank him with the lifted knights:
Worthy each alike to spring
From the Fairy Queen and King.
Now then, blythe elves, in tunes express
The sovereign and his empress,
While all confess the proper heir
Assigned to Arthur's thrones and chair.

Bassoons alone
Recitative (First Fairy): Now, fays and elves, your talks about
The castle search within and out;
Strew good luck on every room,
Fixed till the perpetual doom;
The several chairs of order scour,
With juice of every precious flower;
Each fair instalment-coat, and crest,
With loyal blazon still be blest.

FIRST FAIRY
SECOND FAIRY
FIRST FAIRY
SECOND FAIRY