Recitative (Satyrs and Silenus): Farewell, Bacchus! We will serve

THIRD SATYR       Farewell, Bacchus! we will serve
                   Young Oberon.

SILENUS            And he'll deserve
                   All you can, and more, my boys.

FOURTH SATYR       Will he give us pretty toys
                   To beguile the girls withal?
                   And to make 'em quickly fall?

THIRD SATYR       Peace, my wantons; he will do

SILENUS

Second

First Satyr

Third Satyr

Silenus

Bc

More than you can aim un-to.

Will he gild our cloven feet?
Strew our heads with powders

First Satyr

Third Satyr

sweet?

Bind our crooked legs in hoops?
Made of shells, with sliver loops?

SECOND SATYR      Tie about our tawny wrists
                   Bracelets of the fairy twists?

FOURTH SATYR      And, to spite the coy nymphs' scorns,
                   Hang upon our stubbed horns
                   Garlands, ribbands, and fine posies;

THIRD SATYR       Fresh as when the flower discloses?
[Second & Fourth Satyrs]
Recitative (Satyrs and Silenus): Farewell, Bacchus! We will serve

SILENUS

Peace, my wantons; he will do

First Satyr

SILENUS

More than you can aim un-to. Will he gild our clov-en

Third Satyr

Second Satyr

feet? Strew our heads with pow-ders sweet? Bind our crook-ed legs in hoops? Made of shells, with sli-ver loops?

First Satyr

Second Satyr

Fourth Satyr

Tie about our tawny wrists
Bracelets of the fairy twists?

Third Satyr

And, to spite the coy nymphs' scorns,
Hang upon our stubbed horns
Garlands, ribbands, and fine posies;

Fresh as when the flower discloses?
[First Satyr]
Treble Solo
Third Satyr

TACET
Carillons

TACET
The Bassoons Transpos'd*
Satyr

TACET
Recitative (Satyrs and Silenus): Farewell, Bacchus! We will serve

SECOND SATYR
Tie about our tawny wrists
Bracelets of the fairy twists?

FOURTH SATYR
And, to spite the coy nymphs’ scorns,
Hang upon our stubbed horns
Garlands, ribbands, and fine posies;

THIRD SATYR
Fresh as when the flower discloses?
B.C.

TACET